How does the Melmak ultrasound device work?

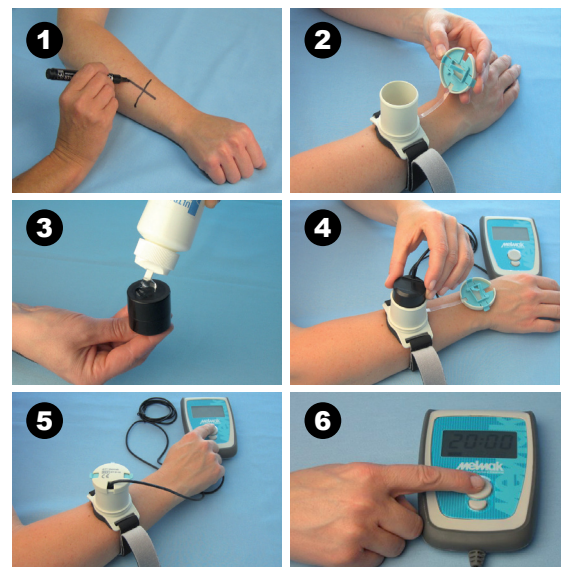

The Melmak device delivers low intensity, high frequency, pulsed ultrasound to the fracture site resulting in increased intracellular activity and synthesis of key proteins to facilitate the natural bone healing process.

How long does a Melmak treatment last?

Melmak treatment should start as soon as possible. It is applied 20 minutes per day. Treatment may last from a month or in some cases several months.

Which patients are suitable for Melmak LIPUS Therapy?

The Melmak therapy is suitable for all fracture patients who wish to get fit faster and for aftercare following operations. There are no known contraindications for the use of the Melmak device.
